No Stall at NOTA Monday

Dear Rochester Volunteers,

I received a message yesterday revoking our permit to appear at the Farmer's Market because:

"I had a handful of people reach out to me and ask me to look into some of the legal cases that FAIR has supported (and brought), which I unfortunately did not do when you first applied. I read the mission statements and many other things, but did not make it into those legal cases... I am sorry to have to cancel your invitation to the market, but given the current political climate, I do not feel it is a good match to have you at the market."

Things are very bad when even the farmers market demands ideological conformity.

Polls consistently show that the majority of Americans oppose the illiberal turn our culture and nation is taking but they are afraid to speak up. This is why it is so urgent that organizations like FAIR appear in public and show that we aren't afraid to stick up for the values of the majority.

We need your help. Is there anywhere: a church, a school, a festival thatl you know of where we can get the FAIR Message out?

Please email me with your ideas.

And for the record, FAIR is proud of its legal cases. FAIR has used the law to advance civil rights and liberties, to help people standing up for a common culture based on fairness, understanding and humanity. Some recent work include

- Standing up for free speech at Emory University
- Challenging the 4H club's policy mandating the use of preferred pronouns
- Discrimination at the New 42 Arts organization
- Defending individuals persecuted for their beliefs
