Racial segregation characterizes every metropolitan area in the U.S. including Rochester and Monroe County and bears responsibility for our most serious social and economic problems. The Color of Law documents the fact that residential segregation was created by racially explicit and unconstitutional government policy. Just Action highlights dozens of strategies undertaken by community-based organizations and governmental institutions in Rochester, Monroe County, and throughout the U.S. to redress the impact of racial and economic segregation. By starting with achievable local victories, we can build a national movement that can remedy our unconstitutional racial landscape.
