

On Wednesday, January 17th, 6:30 PM at the Pittsford Barnes & Noble (3349 Monroe Ave., Pittsford Plaza, in the 2nd Floor Community Room), Bill Wynne, the local author of 'Understanding and Combating Racism: My Path from Oblivious American to Evolving Activist,' will be presenting about his book and his ongoing antiracism journey.

This will include a discussion of the associated risks, innumerable rewards, unintended consequences, and new discoveries regarding racism and its antidote, antiracism, expanding upon Bill's learnings over a lifetime, as well as newly acquired insights since his memoir was published in 2021.

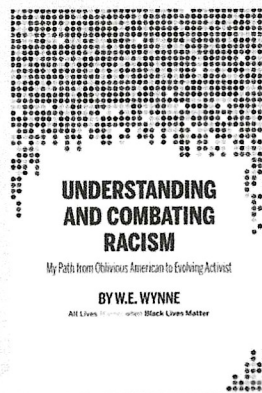

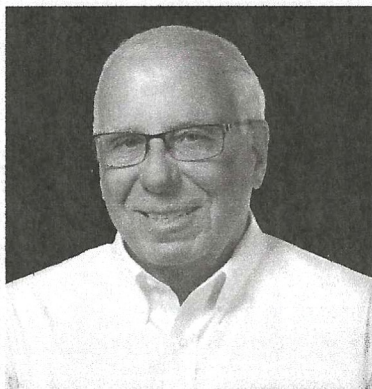

Bill will be joined by two friends he has met on his path: Tiffany Porter, Founder of 'Being Black in the Burbs,' and Alvin Mitchell, Founder of 'Alwayz for the Kidz', a summer youth program Alvin started at Cobbs Hill Park. Their respective stories are captivating, inspirational, and motivational.
